

PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE AND ETHICS IN TEACHING

CONTEXT

Teachers and trainers are reflective and inquiring practitioners who think critically about their own educational assumptions, values, and practice in the context of a changing contemporary and educational world. They draw on relevant research as part of evidence-based practice. They act with honesty and integrity to maintain high standards of ethics and professional behaviour in support of learners and their expectations. This course, therefore, seeks to immerse pre-service teachers in understanding how to transform theory into practice and how to harness their experiences from the field of practice into enhancing their professional development. The course sets out clear expectations of effective practice in Education and Training; how to enable teachers and trainers to identify areas for their own professional development, and above all, support initial teacher education.

Course Title	Professional Practice and Ethics in Teaching
Course Code	EBS 407	Course level: 400			Semester: 2		Credit value: 3

Course Delivery Modes	Face-to-face	Practical Activity	Work-Based Learning	Seminars	Independent Study	E-learning Opportunities	Practicum
Course Description	The focus of this course is a theoretical and practical exploration of ethics in relation to education and teacher identity and disposition. It encourages pre-service teachers to consider how particular philosophical ideas inform educational values, how these values relate to their identity as teachers, and how they might be articulated into their own ethical teaching practice. This course is designed to expose students to professional values, attitudes, and dispositions of the teaching profession that enable students to develop the right attitudes and skills to meet the physical, psychological, social and spiritual needs of the children they will be teaching. The course also covers the professional ethics and code of conduct of teachers and the rights of and obligations to the teachers. Also covered in this course are issues of right of students, child abuse and consequences of child abuse. The legal framework governing the various units of the Ministry of Education is covered in the course. Above all, the course is to ensure that teachers act with honesty and integrity to maintain high standards of ethics and professional behaviour in support of learners and their expectations.
